Wishing you were here
Leaning on my shoulder
A heavy rain is closing in
Starring at the sky
Waiting for salvation
Another day will soon begin

When the sun dries the rain
And glitters through the trees
I'll gaze at you
With the winds you are gone my love

Watching how the shades
Linger in the morning
I can't escape the ghost of you
I can hear your voice
Calling in the distance
I know you're feeling lonely too

When the sun dries the rain
And glitters through the trees
I'll gaze at you
With the winds you are gone my love

But the trees will fall someday
So I must let you fade away
When the sun dries the rain

When the sun dries the rain
And glitters through the trees
I'll gaze at you
With the winds you are gone my love
