I would not be here tonight, if I had to choose.
It's always the bigger things in life that seem to choose you.
You can say what you want.
Believe what you will believe, yeah
But I will take what I want, and see what I need to see.

When I'm buried in the questions, I can't find the answers.
I close my eyes and listen, 'till I remember
Everything was beautiful,

Nothing seem to matter
Every day was just another day to dream
You can say what you want, and be who you want to be, yeah
And you never looked back to the things that you had or the ones that you would never need.

Buried in the questions, I can't find the answers
I close my eyes and listen, 'till I remember
Everything is beautiful, beautiful

If this is all there is, you can't wrap your head around it
If somewhere love exists you can wrap your arms around it
Can you hear me now?
Can you hear me now?
Can you hear me now?
Can you hear me now?

Buried in the questions, you can't find the answers
Close your eyes and listen until you remember, ooh
You don't need the answers
Just close your eyes and remember

Everything was beautiful
Everything is beautiful... here
