Did you read what I wrote?
Oh, did you read what I wrote?
Or did you just sit back to tear it up
And prove I was wrong?
And did you smile when you read?
Oh, did you smile when I said
That you have a cold heart, cold hands
And you're a cold, cold disgrace?
And do you roam on your own?
Oh, do you roam on your own
Or you had to ask mother, father, brother
For some money again?
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
You ever think how I might be
When I'm alone and I need
For there's no one home
And you're not reaching for me
Listen do you roam on your own?

Oh, you go on, on your way
But you had to ask mother, father, sister
For that money again, ooh, ooh
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
Read those words you never heard
Read those words that you've never even heard
And you're too cold, I bet we've never see you burn
You should read those words, I bet you've never even heard
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
I would send a little love token
Wrap it in my heart and go home
