SUSAN AGLUKARK, BEN MINK

Suongan, suongan, suongan, suongan

Specked flakes fall from the sky falling, falling, falling
Like a blanket over time a shelter from the course
Is this the crooked age we alter time in to a longing
Crooked hearts on fragile minds a primal fear is born

Echo screams across the sky like ripples on the water
Throw the stones and watch 'em fly
Suongan to you

For all your unheard caterwauls
The bitter tears you're holding
For all the words you never spoke
The stones you've never thrown
For all the times you never sighed
The gates you never opened
Keep your feet right on the ground
Suongan to you

Crooked hearts on fragile minds a primal fear is born

For all your unheard caterwauls
The bitter tears you're holding
For all the words you never spoke
The stones you've never thrown
For all the times you never sighed
The gates you never opened
Keep your feet right on the ground
Suongan to you

Suongan
Falling, falling, falling
