12. WHITE SaHara
SUSAN AGLUKARK, CHAD IRSCHICK

Closer than the layers
Of fresh fallen snow
You are always there for me
Like a bird that's perched upon my heart
You're the sigh of peaceful dreams
I lay my head resting all my fears

You have filled the pages
Of unwritten time
Turning silence into song
You're moving me in places
I never had life
Like a river pushing through the storm

White Sahara
White Sahara
Aa lee a nigh, aa lee a nigh
Like a temple like a fire
You're the object of my desire
White Sahara, white Sahara
Aa lee a nigh, aa lee a nigh

When I'm at the crossroads
The calm before the storm
I know that I am not alone
Between my conscience and my soul
The little voice the guides me
Through the storm

White Sahara, white Sahara
Aa lee a nigh, aa lee a nigh
