Show me a place, where nothing is wrong where thruth sets the standards, and lies are forlorn A place we all dream of, were greed wasn't born a world without chaos, with no love torn So bring deliverance, and heal all vicious wounds reroute all mankind, the jester of the fools Bring forth salvation, unleash us from our fate come bear our burdens, before it is too late Under the skies we're reborn, unleashed from covenant sins into the dawn we are one, walking towards what's right Show me a face, where nothing is wrong a body that's flawless, a mind yet untorn Wipe out the heavens, to end all the wars life has no meaning, when the world is no more
