

Duskfall, The "The Destroyer"

Skulls piled on concrete, executions made with ease.

Tombs filled with sickness, an invader who won't take heed.

Evolving with a shotgun, launching killing spree.

Unleashing death on mankind, excluding not a soul free.

He won't be satisfied

A gallery of death art, primitive actions to be seen.

Ceiling dripping from their blood, loves to watch them creep.

Opened the gates of torture, he has found his way.

Generations screaming for more, ripping through the gateways.

The destroyer...

Skulls piled...

The destroyer...
