Now it seems another life away... you throwing everthing away... everything you cared about is gone the wisdom and the mystery baby, now that's history you over-shot the moon and now it's gone everything you ever had is gone why, baby...why did you have to tempt your fate you're filled with bitterness and hate and now you're left alone just staring at your empty hands what happened to your greatest plan well it's now a secret held by the moon you gave away your love And now your mind is racing the lights are dimming fast too fast and you can't hold on still you try and pick up all the pieces and you try and fix it... and make it right but baby... what you had what you had is gone You...ya try and pick up all the pieces but now it's time to put 'em all away
