(Buck Owens)

The good old days are here again
My baby's coming home
He'll soon be back within my arms
Yes, back where he belongs.

The lonely nights are gone for good
Like castles in the air
The good old days are here again
God answered all my prayers.

The train is stopping at the station
I can hardly stand this waiting
Here he comes
Watch him as he runs to meet me
Trembling lips that strain to greet me
God he's warm.

The lonely nights are gone for good
Like castles in the air
The good old days are here again
God answered all my prayers.

The train is stopping at the station
I can hardly stand this waiting
Here he comes
Watch him as he runs to meet me
Trembling lips that strain to greet me
God he's warm.

The lonely nights are gone for good
Like castles in the air
The good old days are here again
God answered all my prayers...
