(Buck Owens - Gene Price)

I've carried this torch much too long
And the flame is still burning strong
Ever since you left me here alone
I've carried this torch much too long.

If some miracle should change your mind
And you long for the love you left behind
You know that I won't ask you where you've been Just come on home and let me live again.

I've carried this torch much too long
And the flame is still burning strong
Ever since you left me here alone
I've carried this torch much too long.

I've carried this torch much too long
And the flame is still burning strong
Ever since you left me here alone
I've carried this torch much too long...
