walk through the ashes of man skin like fields on fire pain is only a weakness death is just an escape we are connected like tissue feed on the shame you've raised why continue the harvest?
we are already dead
no one can reap these scars we've sown
there is no morning sun
no falling rain
for acres of skin
wait! can you hear the machines? gears that cultivate flesh
why continue the harvest?
no falling rain
all i want and wish for

is to end this suffering all alone and unaware all primed up for dying without face, without mind without dreams, without memory
