In the morn, in the air
I see your shadow
Give to me your scar
I'll keep you so warm

One tear falls so low
Another tear and others now follow
One tear falls so slow and keeps me warm
The others want to know

In the dark, in the night sky
A trail is running through
To the place where I lived
A trail is running through
Buried deep, in the ash
The feather comes alive
The sky is burning

Glimmer drop to the ground
The whole world, so cold
Wash away all your cares
My body, so warm

The red tear falls so low
Another tear and the others now follow
The red tear falls so slow and dyes the ground
I only want to know

Back to home, back to life
I'm running through the night
Hold you close, hold you tight
Lead you through the night
To the home I once knew
I can see the fire

In the dark, in the night sky
A trail is running through
To the place where I lived
A trail is running through
Buried deep, in the ash
The feather comes alive

The sky is burning

In the dark, in the night sky
A trail is running through
To the place where I lived
A trail is running through
Buried deep, in the ash
The feather comes alive
The sky is burning
