Beggar Woman: Alms! Alms!
For a miserable woman
On a miserable chilly morning

"Thank yer, sir. Thank yer."

Anthony Hope: "Ma'am, could you tell me whose house this is?"

Beggar Woman: "Ah, that's the great Judge Turpin's house, that is."

Anthony Hope: "And the young lady who resides
there?"

Beggar Woman: "Well, that's Johanna, his pretty little ward. Keeps her snug, he does, all locked up. So don't you go trespassing
there or it's a good whipping for you---or any other young man
with mischief on his mind."

'Ow would you like a little muff, dear
A little jig jig
A little bounce around the bush?
Wouldn't you like to push me parsley?
It looks to me, dear
Like you got plenty there to push

Alms! Alms!
For a desperate woman
