Don't need your heartless feeling of sadness
Can't believe what you say, you're not trying to fool me
You're walking on ice, formed by self-device
Don't start walking to me I'm not playing today

But I might phone you
I might phone you
I might phone you
I might phone you
if I find the time

If you believe that I'd go with your falseness
Every time you called around, I was just second best Leave me with your guilt, see what you have built
When you look at yourself, you know what I mean.

Then you can phone me
you can phone me
You can phone me
You can phone me
When you need my time

Don't need your heartless feelings of sadness
Can't believe what you say, you're not trying to fool me
Leave me with your guilt, and see what you have built
When you look at yourself, you know what I mean

And then I'll phone you
I will phone you
I will phone you
Yes, I will phone you
I will phone you
I will phone you
I can phone you
I will phone you
phone you
I will phone you
I can phone you
I will phone you
