In every crowded room
In every lonely bar
The faintest trace of you everywhere
Or on a busy street
When someone laughs like you
Loaded memories conquer me and I give in

Every step I take
Every move I make
Every strange new face
You are there
Every song I write
Every stair I climb
Every cold dark night
You are there

Your scent still in my clothes
Your opinions in my head
Searching faces for the one I can't forget
How do you paint it black?
How do you turn your back?
On every single dream that you believed

Every step I take
Every move I make
Every strange new face
You are there
Every song I write
Every stair I climb
Every cold dark night
You are there

You're the face that gets lost in the crowd
You're the strenght in my bones when I'm down
And your memory is like steel in my mouth
In every breath you are there

Every step I take
Every move I make
Every strange new face
You are there
Every song I write

Every stair I climb
Every cold dark night
You are there
