

Sweet Thing "Winter"

Tree tops are swaying
But the roots plan on staying,
I can see my reflection
On snowy white mountains

Stand and keep awake
As the fever sets and starts to break
The fog is lifting from the southern gates
I just wanna see another day

Across the frozen white valley
A sunrise rising before me,
My mind isn't clear
Just gotta get outta here

Stand and keep awake
As the fever sets and starts to break

The fog is lifting from the southern gates,
I just wanna see another day

Stand and keep awake
As the fever sets and starts to break
The fog is lifting from the southern gates,
I just wanna see another day

Stand and keep awake
As the fever sets and starts to break
The fog is lifting from the southern gates,
I just wanna see another day
