I've heard in time it gets better and I've been waiting forever, I'll say Goodbye for the last time, only this time I'll mean it my fingers ache from clenching this fist
and my eyes still burn...

and I'm pouring my heart through these telephone
wires

I'm getting the notion that you've become tired
and you've become tired.

you run, your legs take you so far you would always come running back and I won't be here this time.. no, not this time
my fingers ache from clenching this fist,
and my eyes still burn...

wires

I'm getting the notion that you've become tired
and you've become tired.

sleep forces itself on me...

escaping reality...

escaping reality...

I know where you'll be in September

no reason to visit

no need to remember

(x2)

my fingers ache from clenching this fist,

and my eyes still burn...

wires

I'm getting the notion that you've become tired

and you've become tired.
