Crying to yourself Lie to someone else Over borrowed time The past won't let you forget Spending too much time Looking for something you'll never find You can borrow dreams Who cares? Who cares? Another lost weekend Another lost weekend Leave it all behind Another lost weekend Another lost weekend But it's still on your mind Wish your life away You can run away Look and you would find The memory's still on your mind Turn yourself around And turn your whole world upside down Just forget the past Who cares? Who cares? Another lost weekend Another lost weekend Just forget the past Who cares? Who cares? Another lost weekend Another lost weekend Leave it all behind Another lost weekend Another lost weekend But it's still on your mind Just another lost weekend Just another lost weekend
