I let myself in
Through the kitchen door
Silence at first
I found her on the floor
I have walked through fire she said
I run, I run, as fast as I could
But I was too late

Just like my father
She gave away
Every hour or every day
She could never find a way
Out of this place
Her life was carved in stone

There was not much I could do
She let me stay the night
I have walked through fire she said
I run, I run as fast as I could
But I was too late

Just like my father,
She gave away
Every hour or every day
She could never find a way
Out of this place
Her life was carved in stone

Even the birds are crying
How can I feel no pain ?
No silent shadow

Just like my father,
She gave away
Every hour or every day
She could never find a way
Out of this place
Her life was carved in stone
