"Life"

While there is light, there is life, I hear you say
While there is life, there is hope, I hear you say
I didn't want to meet your eyes
But when I do, they shine, I am not worthy
Of being shown for

Wherever you wandered, I followed you there
But nothing seems to last for a lifetime anymore
I cannot feel your touch, I am numb
When you speak I find it hard to understand your words

I never meant to cause you any anger or grief
We both agree that nothing is what it once was
When I look at you it hurts
When I hold you tight it feels like we only just met
When I hold you tight it feels like we only just met
When I hold you tight it feels like we only just met
