Something strange is happenin' lately
We no longer see eye to eye
Time has changed us, rearranged us
And it leaves me wondering why
Now everything is different
Nothing feels quite the same
All the things we liked
About each other have changed
I don't know the things that you do
What happened to the person that I thought I knew?
You go one way and I'll go another
When nothing seems to work why should we bother
We've let these little differences
Tear us apart
They're breaking up our friendship
And they're breaking my heart
You need me and I need you
If only we could see this through
You go left
And I'll go right
Life is just one crazy battle

When we argue, fuss, and fight

You're like day

And I'm like night

But if we could get together

Maybe things could work out right

I can see so much in you

Why can't we just see this through

Why must everything

In this life be so complicated

But through all this pain

It's not you I blame

Why can't you feel the same?

You're like day

And I'm like night

But if we could get together

Maybe things could work out right

And I'll go right

Life is just one crazy battle

When we argue, fuss, and fight

You're like day

And I'm like night

But if we could get together

Maybe things could work out right

We'll try to make it right now

We'll try to make it right now
