Listen to my story of a love gone wrong so wrong it was the story of a man and a lonely girl and how his love for her destroyed their world their world a man meets a woman and a woman meets man you see it's the story as all that's history all that's history yeah why oh why must it be this way where is the lover would be hero who will save the day and who will save the day but this is all he says

chorus

i remember all the things she used to say

i remember all the games we used to play

i remember loving you well now that love is all gone away gone away gone away his love for her had only turned to home so she ran for sanctuary into another's arms another's arms but he caught wind of what was happening and flew into a rage so maddening she'll be with no one if she won't be with me you see his love for her had turned to obsession could not let go of his prize possession this what she was for this is what she was well the love turned into bitter jealousy violence ends in silence with fatality why must this be and

that's all there is there's no more there's no love for you
that's all there is
no love no love for you
this time there's no love for you this time there's no love for you there's no love there's no love
