

Eleanor Rigby

"Why"

Driving through the night
using all the lights
hiding in the stars above

I kissed you on the arm never meant to harm the only girl I ever loved

That was long ago
before I could say no whisper in my ear again

Today
I'll change

why must I always choose?
the high over me and you?

I try and I try to change my old ways darling, oh darling

Sweater on the stairs pretending you're still there It's everything and nothing new another wasted chance save me one last dance a final waltz for me and you as we spin around

the high over me and you
I try and I try to change my old ways
darling oh darling

I'll never change
I'll never change
I'll never change

using all the lights
as we spin around

Why must I always choose the high over me and you
I try and I try to change my old ways Darling, oh darling it's just too late

why
why
why
why
whyyyyy
