Dark clouds today
Sleepless nights in shades of multiplying grays
What can you do
Ghosts become your own guests that will not leave you alone

Look around there's no one standing there

Steady steady steady the wheel
I know we're heading for the ditch but I think we'll be
Okay okay steady me now
My wooden hands grind into dust
That settles like snow on us

Younger than we've ever been

Fields within fields
Acres until the edge
An anchor for your bed
Thinking of you
Marking up your plans
Making up what memories you had

Look around there's no one left but us

Steady steady steady the wheel
I know we're heading for the ditch but I think we'll be
Okay okay steady me now
My wooden hands grind into dust
That settles like snow on us

Steady steady steady the wheel
I know we're heading for the ditch but I think we'll be
Okay okay steady me now
My wooden hands grind into dust
That settles like snow on us

Younger than we've ever been
Younger than we've ever been
Younger than we've ever been
