Have you been headwired

Were you satisfied

Did it free the feelings in your spine

Sleeping way inside all this time

Will you meet your mind where the night collides

Will you greet yourself when the sun arrives

I'll just stay behind, I've met mine

Better than a bullet being fired

Tangled in your headwires now

Help you feed the wires when your head unwinds

And if our headlines become entwined

You can have all mine, I'll be fine

There's a reason why keeping me alive

There's a cure in me that I wish were mine

As long as I can fight, I'll survive

Stationed on the wire, one day I'll let go

Tell them all hell

The sun is on

Arlandria, headwire
