What's happenin brothers and sisters?
Welcome to our time

[Jessica Care Moore]

Afro-Angels hide my weapons in tangles Black Star Spangled, fragile like hematite with the East oils I write
Despite the lack of sunlight, got my battle boots tight Now that the government's gone, can't tell your left from your right Winged assassins laughin while the New World's collapsin
Mother Earth's ribs crashed in, armed with cowries, I'm blastin
As the Earth rebels my womb swells
The birth of Black Magic, savin my people force of habit
You can't find if you ain't never had it Spiritually crafted black-listed hair-twisted ghetto embargo lifted Power-shiftin comb-fistin I predict Goddesses you runnin after witches
I kiss my fourteen stitches
Keep all my baby girl wishes
I predict all the oceans turn dry Not one baby girl will cry as you attempt to grow broccoli from the desert
We will take our pregnant bodies, drink from underground rivers
Wash your face between our legs
While recreating humanity, we will summon yemanja Search for our fertility, ban all pink and yellow pills Ban all pink and yellow pills
I predict killing fields of ghetto armpatch anti-Hatch Hate groups will be bombed Childbirth becomes outlawed Always will be branded numbered and logged
All paper money is gone Confused scholars can interpret our scrolls
Your sky has holes
We know the young is old

Nastradamus tell us how the story gets told
