Forgive them of all their sins
Soft spoken with no lies
A man for the people
Not one to beg not one to shout
Teacher to all for what this lifes about
Nothing to gain Whats so insane
Hes known better to all just for his pain
Mother dearest waiting to send
Her son to the beginning of the end
This is the beginning of the end
This is the beginning of the end
Fate of millions rests in my hands
Now this do I understand
Rivers of red running throught my head
I walk this path alone made up of the dead
The strength of the few runs through my veins
Forgive the forgive the killers the bringers of pain
On that morning somethings dawning
Ray of light broke throught the sky
Save a prayer for our brothers
Consequence of one tiny lie
Father tells me of my journey to a place I wish to be
But I must forsake my life
And travel down this path of agony
This is the beginning of the end
This is the beginning of the ... end
This is the end.
