We knew that it didn't work out
So we did the thing we felt was right
We parted until we were out of sight
She told me not to call,
She said that we had to move on
And to forget and to talk would be way too hard

To live in two different towns was bringing the two of us down

So I broke when she broke then we took different ways
And there was really no one, not no one to blame

Months passed on by Without a sound
I started to think that it was over
Until one day when I got a call
It was him and he wanted to see me
I got scared and prepared for a major fall

But we smiled as we talked and we laughed as we walked

And what would kill us next day felt so right at the time
So we made an exception for only one night
We didn't know what to do
And none of us had a clue
How much damage a weekend like that would do
We thought it was under control
We thought we were invincible
But honestly we didn't think so much at all

How could it all go so wrong when we knew that we had to stay strong

What would kill us next day felt so right at the time
So we made an exception for only one night

And there was really no one, not no one to blame
