With the seasons changing ever faster
Our two hearts still pitter patter
Can't you feel it?
It beats so hard it breaks your eardrums

Please just save yourself
Your friends cant save you
Now they're coming
They're coming after me for you

My face hits the windshield
There's glass all around
Get out of the car
Scott my God what just happened?

Say you're okay
We faulted the red and we fell so damn hard
I will be there

The wrong direction it leads to rejection
If I leave you here yeah you know ill regret it
Say you're okay

You stopped too late and now everything's fading why do I have to?
I know what you want to hear

Take me home I cant even see straight pick out the glass that's stuck into my face
I cant go home cause I know it's the wrong place
It's out of the question but I'll be here

Say you're okay
We faulted the red and we fell so damn hard
I will be there
The wrong direction it leads to rejection
If I leave you here yeah you know ill regret it
Say you're okay

Lights out and the whole worlds watching keep it on the presets I cant help it.
Let go of all inhibitions let it all sink in, let it all sink in

We say these things
But they never really sink in
The problem is you know but you cant take back what you want'em to know

You cant take back what you want'em to know
You cant say that when we're ready to go
You cant take back what you want'em to know
You cant say that when we're ready to go

Say you're okay
We faulted the red and we fell so damn hard
I will be there

The wrong direction it leads to rejection
If I leave you here yeah you know ill regret it
Say you're okay
