"You Ain't Right"

Where have you been you haven't been home all week?
Am I supposed to sit here and pretend
That I don't know what's goin' on with you
What? You know you ain't right for this, you know you ain't right

Lonely nights followed by absent day
You found it so hard to be with me
My mind tells me you've got evil ways
But my heart's fell in love so easily

And I can't find the strength to tell you we're through
And I can't find the hate to fool around on you
I know there's something else that you've been holdin' on to
But baby, when I'm gone what you gonna do?

You know you ain't right, stayin' out all night
Smokin' with you friends, ain't never got no ends
You ain't right, things just ain't the same
When you're with Mary Jane, is she the one to blame?

Love with you don't happen no more
You can't even hardly get it up
If you don't want me, then what are you here for?
Do what you gotta do, just don't lie to me no more

And I can't find the strength to tell you we're through
And I can't find the hate to fool around on you
I know there's something else that you've been holdin' on to
But baby, when I'm gone what you gonna do?

You know you ain't right, stayin' out all night
Smokin' with you friends, ain't never got no ends
You know you ain't right, things just ain't the same
When you're with Mary Jane, is she the one to blame?

You know you ain't right, stayin' out all night
Smokin' with your friends, ain't never got no ends
You know you ain't right, can't look me eye to eye
When you're with Chocolat 'til, you always come home

When will you hold me again
It's got to be me or your friend
If I was a dealer, then would I win back
All the love that we had from way back when

You know you ain't right, stayin' out all night
Smokin' with you friends, ain't never got no ends
You know you ain't right, things just ain't the same
When you're with Mary Jane, is she the one to blame?

You know you ain't right, stayin' out all night
Smokin' with you friends, ain't never got no ends
You know you ain't right, things just ain't the same
When you're with Mary Jane, is she the one to blame?

You know you ain't right, stayin' out all night
Smokin' with you friends, ain't never got no ends
You know you ain't right, things just ain't the same
When you're with Mary Jane, is she the one to blame?

You know you ain't right, stayin' out all night
Smokin' with you friends, ain't never got no ends
