Words, are sometimes hard to find
Silence, can be so unkind

You play with love like you play with words
Can't you see it's me you've hurt
Now my dreams turn into dust
It wasn't love, it was only lust

Words, are sometimes hard to find
Silence, can be so unkind

You're not the same, you're playing game
You've filled my heart with your lies
You're not the same, you're playing game
The smile has left your eyes

You're not the same, you're playing game
You've filled my heart with your lies
You're not the same, you're playing game
The smile has left your eyes

You're not the same, you're playing game
You've filled my heart with your lies
You're not the same, you're playing game
The smile has left your eyes

Words, are sometimes hard to find
Silence, can be so unkind

You play with love like you play with words
Can't you see it's me you've hurt
Love is always a losing game
I pack my bags and forget your name

You're not the same, you're playing game
You've filled my heart with your lies
You're not the same, you're playing game
The smile has left your eyes

You're not the same, you're playing game
You've filled my heart with your lies
You're not the same, you're playing game

The smile has left your eyes

You're not the same, you're playing game
You've filled my heart with your lies
You're not the same, you're playing game
The smile has left your eyes

Words, are sometimes hard to find
Silence, can be so unkind
