Good morning and goodnight in the same breath
No little number could repel
But if this bullet ever finds, its target in time
I'll find my way through
This hell that I created for you
To give you the best revenge
I'm in this and in this for me now
So let's not bother to pretend

This room's not big enough for three
But the words that surround it are
And I want you to stay

You can't kill me I'm already dead (it's what you can't understand)
The lies in what I haven't said
I don't believe, that good things come
To those who wait

So let me tell you all I've been dreamin'
It starts walking and in hand
But if this bullet ever finds, its target in time
I'll find my way through
This hell that I created for you
To give you the best revenge
I'm in this and in this for me now
So let's not bother to pretend

You can't kill me I'm already dead (it's what you can't understand)
The lies in what I haven't said
It's too late I've been set up to burn (it's what you can't understand)
You can't teach me what I'll never learn
I don't believe, that good things come to those who wait
But I'll take my time

I'm in this for me now, I'm in this for only me
I don't believe, that I am an empty shell of a person who

Won't feel, the slightest of things from watching you walk
Away from me, right now it's all, that I can say
Is even halfway real, so please don't walk away
