You feel so close, how could you be gone?
My dream is right, reality is wrong
'Cause I'm still with you where my heart's concerned
From where we were there is no return

'Cause I never quite got back from loving you
I'm still out there in that world you took me to
I just got lost when you found someone new
And I never quite got back from loving you

A year of nights hasn't changed that much
The love we had, time can never touch
When I close my eyes you're never out of sight
I'm in this house but I'm not home tonight

'Cause I never quite got back from loving you
I'm still out there in that world you took me to
I just got lost when you found someone new
And I never quite got back from loving you

No, I never quite got back from loving you
I'm still out there in that world you took me to
I just got lost when you found someone new
And I never quite got back
Oh no, I never quite got back from loving you
