How long have you had this feeling
Never see a brighter side
Always standing in the shadows
Rapped up tightly in your pride

How long have you need a healing
Some lost Island where you can hide
Too many questions and no answers
So many rivers that you've cried

On the other side of midnight
Where only broken dreams come true
On the other side there's daylight
And you know that I'll be there waiting for you

How long must you keep believing
Love's lost promises come true
Lay awake and count the reasons
Nothing never leads to you

Dark clouds rising on the heartland
Dreams keep slipping so far away
A helpless heart can never understand
Tomorrow is just another day

On the other side of midnight
Where only broken dreams come true
On the other side there's daylight
And you know that I'll be there waiting for you

Now beneath the smile that's fading
You tell your self you say goodbye (you say goodbye)
Still the fire inside keeps burning on
Through the tears of one more lie

On the other side of midnight
Where only broken dreams come true
On the other side there's daylight
And you know that I'll be there waiting for you

On the other side of midnight

Where only broken dreams come true
On the other side there's daylight
And you know that I'll be there waiting for you

Yeah you know that I'll be there waiting for you
