It would be so nice

It would be so nice

It would be so nice

To meet, sometime

Everybody wakes, and in the morning

Hot tea and can't stop yawning

Pass the butter please.

Have you ever read the Daily Standard?

Reading all about the plane that's landed

Upside down?

And no one knows what I did today

There can be no other way

But I would just like to say

It would be so nice

It would be so nice

It would be so nice

To meet sometime

It would be so nice

It would be so nice

It would be so nice

To meet sometime

Everybody cares about the weather
And everybody should know better
What a waste of time
Everybody lives beneath the ceiling
Living out a dream that sends them reeling
To a distant place
But no one knows what I did today
There can be no other way
But I would just like to say
It would be so nice
It would be so nice
It would be so nice
To meet sometime
It would be so nice
It would be so nice
It would be so nice
To meet sometime
It would be so nice
It would be so nice
It would be so nice
To meet sometime
