C. Stephenson)

Distress signal coming from

Beyond the depths of space and time

A long time had passed

Since the message was sent

It may be too late

They didn't understand or recognize

The true nature of the sign

That it was coming from

A possible future

A warning of what may have been

The Planet Unknown

And it's so strange

To experience

A phase transition of the mind

What we could do

And what we will do

That's a question for mankind

Chaotic clouds of signals crossing over

In and out of time

Paradoxical abstractions

Mix and mingle so sublime
