I was born in the year of the Bulls-Eye
And unless the headlines lie, then they prophesied
That this age was the one to detonate

So let's go
No more
I can't take another false alarm
So if the fuses have been lit, let's get this over with
I can't take another false alarm
And I don't want to wait another day for the countdown
Because I fell in love with my visions of the mushroom
cloud

I was born and bred to bear witness
To a long awaited glimpse of the burdened titan's bliss
As he sheds the weight that was his suffering

Until now
No more
I can't take another false alarm
So if the fuses have been lit, let's get this over with
I can't take another false alarm
And I don't want to wait another day for the countdown
Because I fell in love with my visions of the mushroom
cloud

With open arms
Standing on a target
I thought that i could catch it
I'll be the lucky one
I won't close my eyes
As I'm overloaded
By all the explosions
A spectacle of falling shells

So now it's bombs away

The blasting caps
Will all laugh last
With our collapse
The never ever aftermath

No more
I can't take another false alarm
So if the fuses have been lit, let's get this over with
I can't take another false alarm
And I don't want to wait another day for the countdown
Because I fell in love with my visions of the mushroom
cloud
