you called me up last night in tears and said you missed me after all these years i've been waiting here so long i've gotten over it since you've been gone you called me late last night again and said you're finished with your new boyfriend asked if you could come back home so sorry that you left me all alone well, say you love me, love me again but if you love me, where have you been?
you say you need me more than anyone else
well go to hell, where have you been?
you showed up at my door today and said, my friend why do you push me away your life with him was just so dull but what we had was something wonderful well, say you love me, love me again
but if you love me, where have you been?

well go to hell, where have you been?
no way, you wish, i don't need this what makes you think i'd ever want you again yeah right, as if, i don't need this
what makes you think i'd ever want you again
you called me late last night again
but if you love me, where have you been?
well go to hell, where have you been?
but if you love me, where have you been?
and if you love me, where have you been?
