

Late Night Show, The "Livin' the tv life"

Visit "Livin' the tv life" on MotoLyrics.com

Celebrate my past with my war against the future.
Prescription drugs were all you ever needed
To keep you high enough from reality.
Never big on life; couldn't fulfill your fantasy.

Statistics and lies are what they're feedin' me.
A sick experiment I'll never know
A good friend or a paid foe.
For all I know I could be on a TV show.

Paranoia is what I explain it to be.
Is this real or my own reality TV?

Statistics and lies are what they're feedin' me.
A sick experiment I'll never know
A good friend or a paid foe.
For all I know I could be on a TV show.

Retarded enemy. Empty enemy.

Visit Late Night Show, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.