Butterflies
They only live a day
But their colours stay
And they remind me

Butterflies
Something so rare and pure
Beauty that can't endure
The world around me
They remind me

Of all I could have done
The battles that I never should have won
And now you're gone I wonder why
I didn't see the butterflies,
In you

Now and then
Life gets on top of me
You gave me sanity
Now i can't see

Butterflies
You're like an angel lost
Changing the world you crossed
You would find me
And remind me

Of all I could have done
The battles that I never should have won
And now you're gone I wonder why
I didn't see the butterflies,
In you

Butterflies
Swiftly they fly away
But their colours stay
To remind me

Butterflies
Something so rare and pure

Beauty that can't endure
The world around me
You remind me

Of all I should have done
The battles that you never could have won
And now you're gone I wonder why
I didn't see the butterfly
In you
