You've a spell on me which I cannot break though I never chain my dreams around your neck, or act as I'd expect you to make them true the failed words I thought to say to you, words I thought but cannot speak for fear my thoughts might sound out weak, and this time might end too awkwardly and its comfort slip away from me, but just this once just for this night I wish to lay in comforts light, and its true its nice to be here too so I'll quiet and I'll wish a goodnight to you.

So Goodnight (9x)

Well I hope we meet again in the morning light

My heart is broke and I cannot see no peace for my labor no peace when im free, no peace when I walk these filthy streets when your absence now is killing me, oh why did I leave school to dwell on a dream fore now the guilt is engulfing me, all I want is you but you want so much more, god how did I get here I never wanted more, to alcohol and jealousy with the ghosts in these windows are staring at me, oh why do u keep hanging on to me, when you find other places that you'd rather be

So Goodnight

Well I hope we meet again in the morning light

May it be all total destruction It may be the only solution, like the fire that sweeps the forest bed overgrowth must fall and build again oh just let it grow fore I am human too my world just isn't only built all around you, and now you're coming back oh now toward me again and smile and we hold one another in hand, but just this once just for this night I wish to lay in comforts light, and its true its nice to be here too so I'll quiet and I'll wish a goodnight to you.

So Goodnight

I hope to meet again in the morning light
