Have you ever had a day
Where all you wanted to do was hide away
You feel the pain
Of those around you fall like rain

And you can't make it go away
There's something or someone always in the way

You've got to find a way
To help them keep blue skies
You've got to find a way
To be a sacrifice
Find a way to find away
Tonight

Do ever feel the sting
From mistakes you've made and the hurt they bring
Wish you could change
The past of those for whom you feel the pain

And you can't make it go away
There's something or someone always in the way

Find a way to make everything alright (ok)
Find a way to bring it all to light

And you know deep down
That it's worth the fight
Though you can't always make everything right
