"Change"

Everyone keeps saying it will be alright.
Just wait another day maybe one more night,
And well see
Yeah well see.
Different scenarios allowing us to bury those
Old burnt bridges,
Once and for all.

And all we really need is some change we say.
From melody to harmony to the way we play.
What do ya what do ya say now?

I want to be the reason she gets up at night,
I want to be the season everyone agrees feels right
At least just for now
I want hear something new on the radio,
I want to watch something different than a reality show
On my tv

And all we really need is some change we say,
From television on to where our hearts now lay.
So what do ya what do ya say now?

So lets find a way to get away.
Settling for something never seems to pay.
Lets move along lets move along lets move along
