

Eric Himan

"The Difference"

Visit "The Difference" on MotoLyrics.com

There's something going on here
Nothing like I've ever felt before
A taste I find suspicious
I tend to stick to what I already know

The daydreams entertained me
Til I felt that they were good enough
Then one by one they left me
How quickly work fills all your time up

Cause your different
And you treat me differently
Than all the ones that made it harder on me
When the world seemed to say
They was no one
You changed me, you erased, the life I had begun

I hear it in my voice
The calmness heard when I start to speak
The words I've never spoken
Even my lips feel the relief

Cause your different
And you treat me differently
Than all the ones that made it harder on me
When the world seemed to say
They was no one
You changed me, you erased, the life I had begun

When noone even cared
When none of my feelings were ever spared
When everyone said no, you said..

There's something going on here
Nothing like I've ever felt before
A taste I found suspicious
Close all the windows open up the doors

Chorus.

