I don't know where it stops
If I start calling through
The ground beneath my cell block
Is harder than I'm used to

So spill it out on my world
All that I can bear
I will worry, cause I can't wait
Love's coming fast again today

Believe me, it's a long road for the lonely
Believe me, it's a long road for the sad
But God knows, it's the sad that see the ending
Of their fears, fears that they won't last

So are we fit to be here?
Afraid to reconcile
Just raise the floor to my ear
I'll listen for the child
And lead along that girl to wait
Waiting for that roof to rain
She won't worry, if she's safe
Love's coming fast again today

Believe me, it's a long road for the lonely
Believe me, it's a long road for the sad
But God knows, it's the sad that see the ending
Of their fears
Fears that creep their way into their lives,
But we all feel that sometimes

Bleeding out all my hearts
Standing on a square
I won't worry
I know I'm safe
Love's coming fast again today
