You've been talking for an hour
And I swear to God that I can't hear a word you say
So would you come to me? Come to me

Well, I get caught up in the waves of conversation
They wash over me and they cover me
They cover me

Should I just pack my things and leave?
Would I be a bigger man if I
I built a wall around your heart
And dared you to come in?

I could lie to you
Say I didn't mean it
But hurt's a funny thing
And it makes you stronger

Well, all is nothing in moderation
It's a dirty feeling, it makes you stronger
Well, I believe I'm just plain tired

There's a funny way your lip shakes
When I know that you've been lying
And it touches me
I said it comforts me, it comforts me

Well, I guess I should be satisfied
When you say you love me half the time
Well, I'll settle there
We can build from there, build from there

Would you be happier
If I was only half the man I am?
You could shout at me
And dare me to come in

I can lie to you
And say I didn't mean it
But it really doesn't matter
When you stop to think about it

Well, all is nothing in moderation
It's a dirty feeling, it makes you stronger
Well, I believe I'm just plain tired

Say the end is coming, she don't even feel that
It's a strange sensation, I'm almost happy
Well, I believe I'm just plain tired
I'm tired, yeah, yeah, yeah

Should I just pack my things and leave?
Would I be a bigger man if I
I built a wall around your heart
And dared you to come in?

I can lie to you
Say I didn't mean it
But hurt's a funny thing
Hurt's a funny thing
Hurt's a funny thing

Well, all is nothing in moderation
It's a dirty feeling, it makes you stronger
Well, I believe I'm just plain tired

Say the end is coming, she don't even feel that
It's a strange sensation, I'm almost happy
Well, I believe, I believe I'm just plain tired

Well, all is nothing in moderation
It's a dirty feeling, it makes you stronger
Well, I believe I'm just plain tired

Say the end is coming, she don't even feel that
It's a strange sensation, I'm almost happy
Well, I believe, I believe I'm just plain tired
