"Blind"

I've got the strangest feeling that I've seen all this before
It all looks so familiar as I'm walking to the door And I've got the weirdest feeling that I've walked this path before
It's becoming more familiar but I cannot quite be sure It's a definite sensation that I've done all this before And I'm feeling most peculiar still I'm coming back for more
I begin to see the light as I go crashing to the floor

I must be blind
I must be blind

I had the strange sensation all I had to do was ask I won't give in to temptation I will fight it to the last Though the walls look quite unstable still I'm sure this thing will pass
I will not admit confusion as I have done in the past

I must be blind
I must be blind

Blind

I recognise this situation now I know it all too well It's true that I've been up here and it's true that I once fell
I won't give in so easy I will fight it to the last
I have been sucked into the game plan as I have done in the past

I must be blind
I must be blind

I really must be blind
