Waking up the dream I had seemed so real
It took me back in time so far away I saw a place unknown to me
Empty spaces with harmony Enchanting me with shades of light I can see it shine so bright

To reach the sun the moon, the stars
That is the way to find my dreams Shadows of memories fades away so I can see the reason why I live today
The answer is not far away
Where is the moon I will be leaving soon

I have to wake up before I believe I'm trapped within

The dream that I had is for real and of course I lived before This world is nothing new to me I've walked these streets before Feels just like I am lost in time with no return
Waking up the dream I had seemed so real
It took me back in time so far away I saw a place
unknown to me
Empty spaces with harmony
Enchanting me with shades of light I can see it shine so
bright
The reason why I live today
The answer is not far away
