Oh Merchant, yes merchant
The trader of souls
The bringer of darkness damnation and cold
In secret betrayal with cunning and lies he steals you, deceives you
There's fire in his eye

A strange world of neon of light by your side
There's paradise waiting
The stranger remembers the lines in your face
Through ages that follow his due stays the same

Collecting his children still fire in his
The burning desire consuming their minds

A long way from grandeur
It's passing you by Merchant, oh merchant an angel of light
The trader of souls
Believe me he's lying
The trader of souls
Believe me he's dying
