My primordial fears have been recognized as the indignation swells within me
As swiftly as I've been denied, Alpha hails Omega's ending
To recreate would break covenants and leave prophecies unfulfilled,
But to hesitate would halt movements and condemn the stronger willed

Embittered by the haze of the task I must complete,
My body recalls initiative rising slowly to its feet.
Nerve endings severed from their controlling host

A calloused consciousness contorts the mind

Physicality piloted by an outer ghost, no longer prefaced with a sense of time Days become intertwined and soon months and seasons tangle together

Embittered by the haze of the task I must complete,
My body recalls initiative rising slowly to its feet.
Nerve endings severed from their controlling host
Alpha hails Omega's ending

A calloused consciousness contorts the mind

I no longer gaze into the darkened sky that labors and births catastrophic weather A time will come to start a new, one that is my recreation
But as these blighted days ensue, false light will come from an abomination To hesitate would halt movements and condemn the stronger willed

To recreate would break covenants and leave
prophecies unfilled
Alpha hails Omega's ending
Abomination
